

Plans to present petitions

Robert Eidson, who has been conducting a personal crusade in efforts to force the Sedalia City Council to adopt a full-time mayor ordinance, said Thursday he plans to present more than 100 petitions to the council next month despite recent council consideration of the plan.

Eidson, 2601 South Stewart, told The Democrat-Capital "more than 100 petitions are out in the field now" requesting the council to enact by ordinance the full-time mayor plan which was approved by Sedalia voters April 3 in an advisory election.

Fifty-two per cent of the voters in the election said they preferred a full-time mayor over the present part-time mayor system. Thirty-eight per cent of the voters said they wished no change in the present system, while about 10 per cent indicated they wanted a full-time city administrator to head city government.

Eidson said he plans to submit the petitions to the council the latter part of next month. He earlier had hoped to submit the petitions to the council the first part of September, but he said Thursday the drive would "take a little longer" than originally planned.

The Bell Telephone Co. employee said he has succeeded placing the petitions in all but two downtown businesses and hopes to place the forms in shopping centers soon. He also said many persons are personally circulating the petitions, which each contain space for 29 signatures.

Eidson also indicated he was not satisfied with a proposal submitted to the council Monday night by Fourth Ward Democrat Lee Garrison. Garrison's plan would call for a full-time mayor but would not exclude such a person from having outside business interests and further stipulates that the mayor spend only "at least four hours a day" in his office.

Eidson said he thinks a full-time mayor should spend at least 40 hours each week in his office.

"There appear to be two definitions of the full-time mayor plan," he said, referring to Garrison's proposal as opposed to a 40-hour mayor plan. "A plan which is less than 40 hours is less than what was approved (in the April election)," he added.

Eidson said "better than 60 per cent" of the persons he personally has asked to sign the petition did so. He said he couldn't estimate the total number of persons who have signed the petitions so far.

Eidson also indicated that he is not opposed to a full-time mayor having outside business interests, but "he should make the job his first obligation so his outside interests wouldn't interfere with his work." However, he added, "few people could do that."

Eidson said a full-time mayor also should be given "enough power to do the job without being censored." He added, though, that the council should retain its checks and balances on the position.

Eidson isn't alone in his efforts to force the council to adopt the proposal. Jim Reed Jr., 900 South Harrison, said the Sedalia Jaycees on Aug. 16 adopted a proposal which basically says the Jaycees should "become active" to try to force the council to enact a full-time mayor ordinance.

"We don't think it's right for four or five council members to hold back what 62 per cent of the people voted for," Reed said, referring to those who voted for both the full-time mayor and administrator plans.

Reed said the Jaycees soon will determine a program to implement their Aug. 16 proposal.

Curators have power on residence center

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The University of Missouri curators have the authority to take over operation of the Independence college residence center, Gov. Christopher S. Bond said today.

Bond said he was meeting with "persons concerned" about the future of the residence center but did not say whether he had made a formal request to the curators to consider the question.

The governor has asked the Commission on Higher Education to reconsider its decision recommending the first two years at Independence be operated as a junior college and that the upper division and graduate courses be operated as part of the University of Missouri-Kansas City campus.

Bond has favored a four-year school at Independence, either continuing its operation by Central Missouri State University at Warrensburg or having the University of Missouri take it over.

Central Missouri State's president, Warren Lovinger, has announced plans to discontinue CMSU's affiliation with the center after the fall quarter because the legislature has threatened to take away funds because of alleged over-reporting of enrollment figures.

On other matters in a news conference, Bond said he was "pleased with the way" the Missouri State Fair is going.

He signed a proclamation naming today Bob Hope Day in the state. Hope performs tonight at the fair in Sedalia.

Bond said he hoped to sit down with legislators and discuss reorganization before going ahead with executive orders to accomplish reorganization himself. His staff is working on a draft of a reorganization plan, Bond said, but he said he hoped the legislators could include some of his ideas in a new bill.

Reorganization of state government was a major topic of debate during the last legislative session. The governor vetoed the legislature's plan because, he said, it did not go far enough in consolidation and did not give enough authority to department heads.

Regarding a House subcommittee investigation of dismissals of Democratic employees by Bond's Republican administration, the governor said he would give information to the committee but did not plan to appear in person.

In a letter to Bond, the subcommittee chairman, Rep. Alex Fazzino, D-Kansas City, said Bond's statement that he fired "political driftwood" will "damage the reputations of many discharged employees."

"If you refuse to appear," Fazzino said, "my committee will have no alternative but to conclude that your letter is completely false and will report that fact to the people of Missouri."

Ten witnesses testified earlier this week before Fazzino's subcommittee, and all denied Bond's statement that patronage employees had been required to contribute 5 per cent of their wages to the Democratic party.

And that increases the strain on the nation's already tight supplies of oil and gas, they contend.

For the past few months, EPA and other administration spokesmen have been suggesting that the states postpone application of secondary standards for three or four years, and allow power plants and other industrial buildings to continue using coal while devices to clean up coal-smoke are brought into the market.

It was not clear whether the administration's forthcoming announcement would revoke the annual-average limit, or change existing standards to permit higher levels of sulfur oxide.

more stringent secondary standards, designed to protect plants, animals, property and the environment, were set by EPA on April 30, 1971.

Under federal law the primary standards for clean air must be achieved by mid-1975, but the law provides that each state may set its own deadline for meeting the secondary standards.

Twenty-two states have adopted mid-1975 as their deadline for secondary standards.

Administration officials say the clean air standards, especially the secondary standards, are causing fossil-fueled power plants to begin switching from sulfur-laden coal to low-sulfur oil.

until the committee is satisfied that it has exhausted every avenue.

Committee hearings are to resume Sept. 10. Most other members of the committee were traveling or declining to comment, though Sen. Joseph Montoya, D-N.M., said he thought Nixon "has again dispelled any expectation that he will surrender the tapes" of recorded presidential meetings.

With Congress in recess, there was little reaction to the Nixon news conference, though supporting statements did come from Republican National Chairman George Bush and Sen. John Tower, R-Tex. Congressional reaction, though often along predictable party lines, is one standard barometer of a President's success in making his point.

Polls show Nixon's prior statements and speeches of Watergate innocence were unconvincing to many. So the President sought this time to regain public confidence by answering questions at a news conference, a move urged by many of his political friends.

Nixon's replies during the 50-minute event outside the Western White House contained few new disclosures to add to the mountain of often contradictory Watergate detail produced by investigations and statements.

But they provided the President's view of how certain events struck him and why he reacted to them as he did. And though there was not time for many of the lingering Watergate questions to be raised or answered, Nixon, by holding the news conference, could now say he had made

Smaller attendance at this year's Fair

Beginning with a ham breakfast featuring the appearance of Gov. Christopher S. Bond and ending with a grandstand show highlighted by entertainer Roy Clark, the Missouri State Fair Wednesday attracted 25,166 persons, a decrease of 7,600 over Wednesday a year ago.

A comparison of actual paid attendance figures for the current Fair and last year's exposition revealed that, as of Wednesday, 166,082 persons attended the 1973 Fair, a drop of 19,904 from last year's figures covering the same time span. Anyone using last year's Fair attendance figures, however, would arrive at another total because a different method calculating attendance was used.

According to former Fair Secretary W. C. Askew, Fair officials in the past have added 5,000 and 15 per cent of the paid attendance to the total paid attendance figures to arrive at attendance estimates. The figure of 5,000, Askew explained, included Fair employees and those people who purchased season tickets. The 15 per cent figure represented all children under age six who were not charged admission.

Commenting on the attendance decline Thursday morning, Jones indicated he wasn't as worried about the attendance statistics as he was in providing "the best Fair possible for every person every day."

Jones indicated he believed the decline in Fair attendance doesn't reflect disinterest in the Fair itself but, rather, the reluctance of an increasing number of Americans to travel as much this summer because of gasoline shortages and generally tighter money.

"I talked recently with a man with the Colorado Tourism Department and he said vacationing attendance in the state was down 30 per cent," Jones said. "So, I guess it's pretty much of a national thing and not tied only to the Fair."

Another factor cited by Jones as contributing to the attendance drop was the fact that the Ike and Tina Turner show did not draw as large a crowd as was anticipated.

"We had a lot more attend the Jackson Five concert last year than attended the Ike and Tina Turner Show this year," Jones said. "They seem to draw better in the nightclub atmosphere rather than at fairs."

Following his remarks at the ham breakfast, Gov. Bond spoke at dedication ceremonies at the Simmental Cattle Building and also officially greeted members of the armed forces who were honored along with state legislators. Specifically recognized at the armed services ceremony were the commanding officers of Missouri's three military installations, Richards-Gebaur AFB, Whiteman AFB and Fort Leonard Wood.

It was learned Thursday that the grand champion bacon, purchased for $500 at the ham breakfast Wednesday and given to Fair Secretary Ron Jones, was bought by Sedalia Bank & Trust Co. The bacon was presented to Jones by bank board chairman Jason Ott, Kansas City.

Clark attracted a near-capacity crowd of country-music lovers and delighted them with a pleasing blend of comedy, singing and guitar virtuosity.

In order to control the grandstand seating situation, the gates were locked 45 minutes before the show was scheduled to begin. Jones said he did this because of the past Fair policy of letting people enter and then turn them away, if necessary, at the stairs. He said this could prove dangerous in an emergency situation.

One member of his audience especially delighted to see her "favorite singer" was Mrs. Mattie Edmonston, of Sedalia, who is 103 years old. Following his performance, Clark welcomed her on stage and recognized her as his "oldest fan."

In horse racing activities Wednesday, "Beautiful Beau," a horse owned by Jeffie D. Specker, Mayview, escaped serious injury and crossed the finish line after he collapsed on the race track during harness competition. Another horse owned by Specker beat seven rivals to win the Governor's Trophy and $1,500 in the Missouri-owned horse race. The trophy is awarded alternately each year to the best Missouri-owned pacer or trotter.

In the American Saddle Horse Breeders futurity of Missouri competition, held Wednesday night in the Fair coliseum, "Summertime Colors," owned by Sedalians Mr. and Mrs. Duane Ewing, took top honors in the weanling class 1973 foal division. The three-month-old colt, shown by Ron Canopy, Warrenton, won a sterling silver trophy and $574.85 for its owners.

The colt was sired by "Secret Selection" out of "Autumn Colors," a five-gaited mare shown at the Fair for several years by Mrs. Ewing.

Among the top animals shown were the grand champion Southdown ram of William Doak, Vandalia, and the grand champion Southdown ewe of Ron Wedel, Moundridge, Kan.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger, the principal foreign-policy theoretician in the Nixon administration, is moving in as secretary of state in a Cabinet shift that dramatizes the drive for relations with China and the Soviet Union.

William P. Rogers is giving way, as affable as ever — he said Wednesday he felt like "the last of the whooping cranes" — to return to a successful law practice in New York.

Rogers, 60, was the only remaining member of President Nixon's initial Cabinet. He said he never intended to stay past the first term but remained an additional seven months to help nail down the ceasefire in Vietnam and to fulfill other diplomatic missions.

"I would have left whether there had been a Watergate or not," he told reporters.

At a news conference in San Clemente, Calif., President Nixon announced Rogers' resignation and said he is nominating Kissinger to replace him.

If confirmed by the Senate, Kissinger, a 50-year-old bachelor who admires movie actresses and other fashionable women, will be the first Jew and the first naturalized citizen to serve as secretary of state. Kissinger's family fled Nazi Germany when he was a teen-ager.

Foreign policy is considered the administration's strongest point, and Kissinger is clearly the chief strategist. He promoted Nixon's overture to China, including the historic trip last year to Peking, the summit exchanges with Soviet Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev and the current effort to reshape U.S. relations with European allies and Japan.

And he was the driving force to negotiate a ceasefire met in Vietnam.

However Rogers may have felt privately, he spoke proudly of the administration's foreign-policy accomplishments and of his own role. The 1970 ceasefire that halted the war between Israel and the Arab states gave him the greatest personal satisfaction.

Nixon answers questions

Responses apparently will not stem Watergate probe

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon's first responses in five months to direct questions about Watergate and his declaration that the scandal is "water under the bridge" apparently will not succeed in stemming the Senate Watergate investigation.

"I shall not resign," Nixon told a news conference Wednesday as he gave explanations for his Watergate conduct which conceded no personal negligence.

And in the latest of his attempts to put Watergate behind him, he insisted it is time to get on with the "business of the people."

But Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., chairman of the Senate panel which has probed the scandal for months, said "I don't think any more light was shed than has been shed before." And he said he would not allow the investigation to rest until the committee is satisfied that it has exhausted every avenue.

Committee hearings are to resume Sept. 10. Most other members of the committee were traveling or declining to comment, though Sen. Joseph Montoya, D-N.M., said he thought Nixon "has again dispelled any expectation that he will surrender the tapes" of recorded presidential meetings.

With Congress in recess, there was little reaction to the Nixon news conference, though supporting statements did come from Republican National Chairman George Bush and Sen. John Tower, R-Tex. Congressional reaction, though often along predictable party lines, is one standard barometer of a President's success in making his point.

Polls show Nixon's prior statements and speeches of Watergate innocence were unconvincing to many. So the President sought this time to regain public confidence by answering questions at a news conference, a move urged by many of his political friends.

Nixon's replies during the 50-minute event outside the Western White House contained few new disclosures to add to the mountain of often contradictory Watergate detail produced by investigations and statements.

But they provided the President's view of how certain events struck him and why he reacted to them as he did. And though there was not time for many of the lingering Watergate questions to be raised or answered, Nixon, by holding the news conference, could now say he had made himself available to answer any of those questions.

Nixon opened with the announcement that William P. Rogers is resigning as secretary of state and will be succeeded by Henry A. Kissinger.

But the preoccupation with Watergate showed strikingly when reporters asked not a single question about that top-level change, which in more normal times would have produced a barrage of inquiries.

Instead, when questioning did veer from Watergate, it moved to another area of rumored scandal, the Maryland political payoff probe involving Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Nixon expressed confidence in his two-time running mate and, as Agnew did Tuesday, voiced outrage at leaks to news media from sources close to the case.

In another cover-up area touched at the end of the session under hot California sunshine, the President said he had no apology for ordering bombing in neutral Cambodia during 1969. The bombing was a secret until recently and had been covered up by false military reports. Nixon said it helped save American lives.

Utilizing a question about whether he considered resigning, Nixon spelled out the corner he hopes to turn with his latest defense on Watergate.

"Watergate is an episode that I deeply deplore and had I been running the campaign rather than trying to run the country, and particularly the foreign policy of this country at this time, it would never have happened," he said. "But that is water under the bridge, it is gone now."

Nixon's responses to the barrage of Watergate questions included a statement of apparent misplaced faith in John N. Mitchell, a more detailed rebuttal of certain charges by John W. Dean III and an explanation of what L. Patrick Gray III's warning meant to the President.

Mitchell told the Senate Watergate Committee that if Nixon had ever asked him about the break-in, Mitchell would have told all. But Mitchell said he hadn't volunteered the information because "Nixon would have 'lowered the boom' to the detriment of his campaign."

Nixon mentioned a March 22, 1973, meeting attended by Mitchell at which the President said "I kept pressing for the view that I had had throughout, that we must get this story out, get the truth out..."

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Bad breath symptom of something else

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am a young married woman and have had a problem with bad breath for as long as I can remember. You can't imagine how much personal embarrassment this has caused me at home, with friends and even on my job. I am concerned about the effects it may have on my future. Yes, I've read all the ads and tried all the different things that are recommended for bad breath, including every mouth wash that's been advertised, varieties of toothpaste, chewing gums, you name it, I've tried it.

I don't seem to have any dental problems. I go to the dentist regularly. I don't have any cavities. I brush my teeth at least three times a day, use dental floss and everything that's ever been recommended to me. But, I still have this problem.

The only time I have ever gotten any help for it is when I have taken penicillin for one reason or another. While I am taking penicillin, temporarily my problem of bad breath goes away, but it always comes back. I just can't understand why something can't be done for my bad breath. If you have anything to recommend, I would certainly appreciate it.

Dear Reader — I receive many letters complaining about this problem. It's not uncommon, otherwise the large amount of mouth wash and so forth wouldn't be sold to the public. A good place to start evaluating the problem is in the dental area, and I'm glad to see that you apparently have already done that. In addition to cavities and so forth, there is the problem of pyorrhea or inflammation of the gingiva (gums) which is often a source of bad breath, but I would assume from your regular dental evaluations and treatments that you must not have that problem.

The point that penicillin seems to relieve your difficulties suggests an infection. A common location for such an infection is the sinuses. Chronic sinusitis is a frequent source of persistent bad breath. Old diseased tonsils with necrotic cheesy material deeply imbedded within the tonsils are also a frequent source of bad breath. I would suggest you see an ear, nose and throat specialist and have him evaluate your sinuses and tonsils for possible infections which may be contributing to your problem.

There are other causes for bad breath, including diseases of the lungs (usually associated with other symptoms), disturbances in digestion, gall bladder disease and even bad breath associated with a woman's menstrual cycle (I suspect that this is often related to an associated disturbance in the digestive tract occurring at that time). Probably the most common sources for persistent bad breath are the dental-mouth area and the sinuses, adenoid area.

Incidentally, many people don't recognize that the tongue is a source of bad breath, and it should be cleaned regularly just as teeth are cleaned. The accumulation of food and debris on the tongue can be the real problem. Obviously, to do something about persistent bad breath requires a good medical examination with particular attention to the dental, mouth, sinus and tonsil area. If a search of these areas is unrewarding, then a more complete study of possible causes needs to be accomplished. I agree it's not a simple problem because it certainly can limit one's future opportunities, both socially and even in one's chosen occupation.

Sedalia Junior High will open for its second year of operation with an enrollment of approximately 940 students. The school will operate with two different starting times. Because of the possible danger to students walking in heavy traffic as well as congested traffic, students who are not eligible for bus transportation will start school at 8:15 and will be dismissed at 2:45. The approximately 800 students who are eligible for free bus service will start at 9:05 and will be dismissed at 3:45. In order to alleviate congested traffic and parking, the buses will load and unload behind the school, entering on the new Collins Avenue entrance, leaving the front drive clear for automobiles. The front drive will be one-way from North to South this year.

The course offering at the Junior High is based on the philosophy that every student at this age needs an introduction to as many different areas of learning as possible.

Each student will take Math, English, Social Studies and Science all year. Art, Music, Physical Education, Home Economics and Industrial Arts are taken for one-half year. In the Music Department, students have a choice of vocal or instrumental music. Students who have never played an instrument may start at the Junior High in the beginning band. Lessons will be given free of charge.

Several new courses are being offered this year. Seventh graders will take the following courses for nine weeks each: Health and First Aid, Environmental Studies, Allied Arts and Newspaper in The Classroom. Eighth graders will take Speech, Introduction to Drama, Consumer Economics and Career Information for nine weeks each. The physical education program will be divided so that three-fourths of the time will be spent in general physical education activities and one-fourth time in swimming. The basic objective of the swimming program is to teach every non-swimmer to swim. Instruction will be given to non-swimmer as well as intermediate and advanced swimmer. Each student will provide a swim suit of their choice of style.

A complete athletic program will be offered which will allow all students to participate in several different sports. The football program has been expanded to include seventh graders this year. All boys who go out for football, basketball and soccer will play at least one-half of each game. Each grade will have three teams with a coach for each team. This intramural type of athletic program has been developed to insure that every student has the opportunity to receive coaching and actual game playing experience. Also, a comprehensive sports program is available for girls. The Girl's Sports Club plays basketball, softball, volleyball, kickball and track. Every girl is encouraged to participate.

An expanded guidance program will provide each student with the opportunity to obtain the services of a counselor. This will enable students to have much more help in planning their high school program, as well as providing someone to help them with present difficulties.

Each student will be assigned an individual locker in which to keep books, coats, etc. It is strongly recommended that a good combination lock be purchased for the security of these items.

The cafeteria will operate on four lunch shifts and the price of the lunch with milk will be 45 cents, paid daily.

Any student who has not enrolled may do so anytime this week. A tour of the building will be given to all new students.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

Tuesday, August 28th at 9:00 A.M., is Orientation time for kindergarten students. This meeting will last from 9:00 until 10:00. We are hoping parents will bring their child to school so the child may become familiar with the building and see their teacher before spending a full half-day session at school. This meeting will also take care of late registration for those not enrolled.

We are trying to make the transition from home to school as pleasant as possible. We believe this year is a vitally important period in the whole school life of the child. For most children, this year marks the first educational experience outside the family circle and lays a foundation for all of the school experiences to follow. It is vital that these initial experiences be rewarding to the child and establish a positive feeling toward school life.

We are expanding our remedial reading program with the addition of two remedial reading teachers this year.

We feel there must be a close working relationship between the school and the home. Therefore, we solicit your cooperation and assistance in making the educational experiences of your child stimulating and rewarding. We realize we are working with the ones you hold most dear, and want to do everything possible to fulfill our responsibility.

TRANSPORTATION

Approximately 2,000 students will be transported to and from school at district expense. A child must live one mile or more from school to be eligible for free transportation. Eligibility is determined by measuring the distance from a point on the street nearest the front door of the child's residence to a point on the street nearest the main entrance of the school.

Transportation for the regular school program is contracted by the Board of Education with School Transportation, Inc., of Kansas City, Missouri. Inquiries regarding routes should be directed to the contractor's supervisor whose number is 827-2111. Questions concerning eligibility for free transportation may be directed to the contractor's supervisor or to the Superintendent's office.

Pupil transportation to the Vocational programs at Marshall, Warrensburg and State Fair Community College will be provided in district owned vehicles.

Pupils transported to the Special Education Center at Hubbard School will also be provided in district owned buses.

FEES AND TEXTBOOKS

All textbooks and workbooks are furnished free to all students in the elementary schools and the Junior High School. High School students are required to purchase their textbooks. No fees are charged in any of the schools. However, students who wish to keep projects completed in class will be required to pay for the cost of materials. All students are expected to furnish their own paper, pencils and other personal supplies.

Supply lists for elementary pupils will be given to them the first day of school. Season tickets to athletic events at the high school are available to students for $3.50

STUDENT INSURANCE

A low-cost accident insurance policy is available to all pupils in kindergarten through grade twelve. An envelope containing coverage, cost and other information will be sent home with each pupil during the first week of school.

High school football players are not covered under the above mentioned insurance. However, a special plan for high school football players is available at nominal cost. Parents are urged to consider this in their total insurance program.

SCHOOL LUNCH

A nutritionally balanced meal will be available to every child. Increased costs have made it necessary to raise the price of school lunches to forty cents for elementary pupils and forty-five cents for Junior High School and High School students. Each meal will include one-half pint of Grade A white milk and additional milk may be purchased at 8¢ per 1/2 pint. Parents who will find it difficult to pay for school lunches are urged to secure an application for free lunches from the principal's office.

Fairgoers enjoy Royal Marionettes

By JOE M. KELL
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

Who is 36 inches tall, can dance endlessly, and has a voice which makes teenagers squeal? Why that could only be Tom Jones, the star puppet of the Royal Marionettes puppet show.

In a show designed to appeal to all ages of Fairgoers, the Royal Marionettes perform four times daily on the lawn of the Administration Building at the 1973 Fair.

Frank and Eve Dupont, Clearwater, Fla., own and control the Royal Marionettes, and have done so for the past 20 years.

Starting in France, the Duponts have performed in 48 countries, and three times before the Queen of England and her children. "That was when the children were younger," Frank Dupont said.

The Duponts have also performed with their marionettes before the royal court of Thailand, the Shah of Persia and Jordan's King Hussein.

But right now the marionettes are performing before Missouri State Fairgoers, and Mrs. Dupont says crowd reaction to the performances has been great.

"The children here have been so well behaved. In some places the children try to climb right up on the stage while the show is going on," Mrs. Dupont said.

The Duponts have over 40 marionettes, all of which they built by hand. Although

Sweden's king put in respirator in critical condition

HELSINGBORG, Sweden (AP) — Sweden's 90-year-old King Gustaf VI Adolf was placed in a respirator early today in critical condition, but seven hours later a hospital bulletin said he was improving.

Doctors said the king, who was operated on for a gastric ulcer early Tuesday, developed pneumonia late Wednesday night.

The doctors said the king's temperature, which had been normal, rose to 101.7 degrees, his pulse and blood pressure increased, he had trouble breathing and X-rays of his lungs showed signs of pneumonia.

When antibiotic treatment did not clear up the condition, the old man was moved into a respirator at 3 a.m.

A bulletin at midmorning said the king responded positively to the treatment and X-ray pictures of his lungs "show a clear improvement."

"The treatment will probably have to be extended over the next few days," the communique said.

Successor to Agnew is indicted

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The man who succeeded Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as chief executive of Baltimore County was indicted today by a federal grand jury investigating political corruption in Maryland.

The defendant, Democrat Dale Anderson, was charged with bribery and extortion.

Anderson is the acknowledged political strong man in Baltimore County, Maryland's third largest government unit. He was the only individual named in the massive indictment returned by the special jury after about eight months investigation.

There were about three dozen separate counts.

The same grand jury also is investigating Agnew's involvement in an alleged kick-back scheme when he was the county's No. 1 official between 1962 and 1967 and later as governor of Maryland.

Named as a co-conspirator but not a defendant in today's indictment was William E. Fornoff, who resigned in June as county administrative director after pleading guilty to a federal tax charge linked to the receipt of funds from contractors doing business with the county.

Fornoff served briefly as head of administration when Agnew was county executive.

A source close to the investigation has reported that Fornoff's testimony prompted investigators to question consultants and contractors who in turn brought the vice president into the continuing probe.

Nearly 200 new forest fires started

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lightning storms started at least 200 new forest fires today in the tinderbox states of Montana and Idaho.

Forest Service officials said that only eight of the new fires were listed as "projects" — fires requiring significant suppression efforts.

"All existing major fires have been quiet through the night," the Forest Service added.

A spokesman for the Boise Interagency Fire Center said a morning count showed only six uncontrolled major fires burning on 40,000 acres in four states.

But, he said, the lightning storm could create a new crisis situation.

As of Tuesday, 13 major fires covering more than 100,000 acres were ablaze and being fought by 12,000 men. That number was reduced to 6,000 men late Wednesday as some of the fires were brought under control.

But the National Weather Service predicted extensive thunderstorms with lightning, high winds and little rain through Saturday for Idaho and Montana, with a chance of similar storms in eastern sections of Washington and Oregon.

Forestry officials have described this fire season as the worst in 20 years for the drought-plagued Northwest.

Dick Klade, information officer at the Boise center, said that in the past 10 days 50 major fires have blackened or burned out of control on 189,824 acres — an area nearly one-quarter the size of Rhode Island.

Firefighters said Wednesday that for the first time since the rash of fires began almost all the new blazes were caused by nature rather than by man. Klade said 151 fires were started by lightning, mostly in Idaho and Oregon, during a two-day period ending late Wednesday.

Stereo tape theft reported to police

Anthony Cook, 609 East 16th, reported to police Tuesday night the apparent theft of a stereo tape player and turntable valued at $300 plus 24 tapes valued at $70.

Cook told police someone unlocked his house and took the items while he was at work.

Sedalia firemen were called to Broadway and Warren at 11:56 p.m. Tuesday where a 1967 Volkswagen driven by Roy Young had caught fire.

Damage, listed at $500, was contributed to a short in wiring.

Mrs. Dupont would not place a value on the marionettes, she said they have been offered as much as $500 for one of the puppets before.

Dupont explained they only had 11 of the puppets with them on this tour because they can use only so many in the short time they have to give a performance.

Stars of the show the Duponts are giving on the Fairgrounds are Tom Jones, and his accompanists, the Soul Sisters, two men from Mars, and a matador who fights a very friendly bull.

Since both Mr. and Mrs. Dupont are accomplished puppeteers, most of the routines have more than one puppet involved, with both Duponts controlling a puppet.

One of the highlights of the show is when two children are selected from the audience to come on stage and meet one of the marionettes.

Mrs. Dupont said they first brought their show to this continent for Expo '67 in Montreal. They have performed almost exclusively in the United States since then, doing various fairs in the summer, and making many appearances at schools in the winter. They also perform in shopping malls during the holiday seasons.

Most of the elaborate marionettes are at least 36 inches tall, Mrs. Dupont said. She said they sometimes get ideas for puppets from fast-rising musical stars, or pick a tune they like and create a puppet or routine to fit the tune.

The Royal Marionettes are visiting the Missouri State Fair for the first time this year and are drawing good crowds to the performances at 11 a.m., 2 p.m., 4:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. daily. Admission is free, of course.

Airman still barricaded in his room

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — A young airman remained holed up on the second floor of his barracks today despite efforts by his sister and her husband to talk him into ending his four-day-old seclusion, a base spokesman said.

The enlisted man met for five hours Wednesday night and early this morning with the couple and their four-year-old son, who had flown in from St. Louis earlier in the evening, the spokesman said.

They were expected to meet again today, he said.

The airman, Earl Williams, 19, also of St. Louis, still hasn't disclosed why he locked himself in his room behind a small barricade and fired off five shots apparently inside his quarters, officials said.

The Air Force said no one was in danger and that the 100 men in the barracks had been billeted somewhere else for the duration. A spokesman said they would like to settle the situation peacefully and were trying to ease the situation by even bringing the man regular meals.

No one had been threatened or harmed in the incident which began at 1:30 p.m. Monday, the Air Force said. Officials said while they didn't have any explanation from the man as to his actions, the base commander had about 12 days ago ordered him to remove his hat in the dining hall and that instead the airman left without eating.

Williams, the equivalent of an Army private E 2, only came to the Southern California desert base recently.

The sister arrived late Wednesday night, the Air Force said, adding her name was withheld at her request.

Opening of highway bids is scheduled

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Highway Commission will open bids next Friday on 20 projects costing $15 million.

Five interstate highway projects will be included.

They are 8.4 miles of grading on Interstate 29 in Holt County, grading and widening of Interstate 435 at two locations in Kansas City, grading and widening 2.6 miles near the airport on Interstate 70 in St. Louis, and construction of a rest area on Interstate 29 two miles south of Mound City.

Petitions

He said although the Jaycees as a whole have not endorsed Eidson's petition, several Jaycee members are displaying the petitions at their businesses or are soliciting signatures.

The Economic Development Board met Wednesday and unanimously decided to recommend to the City Council that efforts to replace Bill Hall, economic development director who resigned, be pursued as soon as possible. The position will be vacated Aug. 31.

The board also agreed to recommend that the council change the present city ordinance to give the board power to hire a qualified person who might not fit into the qualifications specified in the existing ordinance, with a two-thirds majority vote of approval by the board. The board decided to recommend that a starting salary should not be stated, with no automatic raises, and that the new director should report to the chairman of the board in detail every month.

The present ordinance states that a new director may start at any salary up to $12,780 with automatic raises each year up to $14,820 in the fifth year.

The board agreed that it may want to hire someone who has a good deal of experience but not necessarily all of the qualifications specified in the ordinance.

Allende meets with national security heads

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — President Salvador Allende met with his national security council Wednesday night, and congressional sources said they discussed the threat of an invasion by Bolivia.

"The situation is delicate," Adm. Raul Montero, the commander of the navy, told newsmen. He would not elaborate. But there were unconfirmed reports of Bolivian troop movements along Chile's northeastern frontier.

Several opposition congressmen claimed the leftist government was circulating the reports to divert attention from the strikes plaguing the government.

Chile and Bolivia severed diplomatic relations 10 years ago over a river dispute but they have not been on friendly terms for a century. Bolivia lost its access to the sea when victorious Chile seized the port city of Antofagasta during the 1879 War of the Pacific against Bolivia and Peru.

Shortly before Allende met with the security council, the House of Deputies adopted a resolution accusing the Marxist president of "overstepping the constitution and the law." The resolution, which passed on an 81-47 vote, carries no legal sanctions. But it reflected the concern of the opposition majority in Congress over the street battles in which scores of persons were wounded during a 48-hour general strike Tuesday and Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the 140,000 members of the merchants' confederation ended their 48-hour strike against the government and planned to reopen their shops today. They didn't have much to sell, however, as much of the country's distribution system was paralyzed by the continuing truck owners' strike, now in its 29th day.

The doctors' union voted to remain on strike for three more days to press demands for the import of more medicine and medical equipment. They now are providing only emergency service.

Fair

In cattle competition, several grand champions were selected Wednesday. The Lone Summit Ranch, Lee's Summit, had the top Polled Hereford heifer and bull. The awards were made after about seven hours of judging.

"Acadia Dutch 7th," a yearling bull from Thieman's Polled Shorthorns, Concordia, took several honors in the 1973 Missouri State Fair Shorthorn Show.

Besides being named the Grand Champion Bull of the show, the big red bull was also named Senior Champion Bull and first place junior yearling bull.

The Seven T's Shorthorn Ranch, Yukon, Okla., took several other honors at the Shorthorn Show. Among these were the Grand Champion female, best junior yearling female, reserve grand champion bull, best spring yearling bull, and four other first places in Shorthorn cattle.

Ronnie Kahl, from Jasper County, was named the top junior judge in the "Junior Dairymen's" cattle judging contest, topping some 60 other contestants.

He received $25 from the state Guernsey and Brown Swiss breeding associations.

A majority of local businesses, as well as city offices, closed up shop for at least part of the day Thursday to enable their employees to enjoy "Sedalia Day" at the Fair. Also being honored Thursday are residents of St. Louis and Kansas City.

Race track events on tap Thursday included quarter horse racing at 8 a.m. and harness and pony races beginning at 1:30 p.m. Other features scheduled are the annual chicken barbecuing contest at 2 p.m. south of the Fair administration building, and a horse show in the Coliseum at 7 p.m. Also, a miniature mule show was scheduled in front of the grandstand at 4 p.m.

Renowned comedian and entertainer Bob Hope headlines the grandstand show tonight in what is expected to be another heavily attended performance.

Economic board favors action

In discussing the qualifications of a new economic development director, Louis Hughes, a member of the board, suggested that it would be "better to get someone with a proven record of experience, rather than someone with a Ph.D., for example, who has no record of experience."

Robert Hardwick, also a board member, said that if the specifications for a new director are broadened, "we might even be able to find qualified people for the job already in Sedalia."

Councilman Don Broadbush, chairman of the economic development board, said that in the past, the public has not been sufficiently "informed on the actions and progress of Sedalia's economic development."

He also said he believes the City Council has similar feelings about their own knowledge of the city's economic development and suggested that steps be taken, starting with the hiring of a new director, to publicize progress of Sedalia's economic development more extensively and in more detail.

'Ametrica?'

"A Metric America" was the original title of the metric measuring display sponsored by the University Extension Service in the Missouri State Fair Home Economics Building. Twins Carol Scott, left, and Cheryl Scott, Kansas City, took a look at the liter and quart measures, conversion charts, metric measuring cup, and Fahrenheit and Celsius thermometers.

State officer here

The president of Missouri Federated Garden Clubs, Inc., Mrs. Edward J. Neuner, Chesterfield, was in Sedalia Wednesday to visit and judge floriculture exhibits at the Missouri State Fair.

On hand to host the president were Mrs. C. W. Thomas, Tipton, superintendent of Floriculture Department, and Mrs. Lewis Smith, Ottumville, director of the Senior and Junior Garden Club shows on exhibit and being judged that day.

Mrs. Thomas reports seven shows will be exhibited in the two-story Floriculture Building, which has been under the auspices of the Missouri Garden Clubs since before the 1972 Fair.

Garden clubs from Eldon, Warrensburg, Napoleon, Sedalia and Ottumville had approximately 135 entries on exhibits in 20 separate classes in the upper story reserved for this category.

On the first floor a revolving exhibit of flower arrangements over a moat — where fresh flowers are placed every day — and three daily demonstrations on a variety of topics related to flowers are provided for visitors.

In previous years very few entries in the Floriculture Department have been exhibited from areas of Missouri that are a long distance from Sedalia. Mrs. Neuner said she had scanned the entry list for 1973 and found that every one of the 10 districts making up the Missouri Federated Garden Clubs were represented by exhibitors this year. She attributed much of this out-state participation to promotion of the State Fair program by local garden clubs.

Polly's pointers

What were those ingredients again?

Polly's problem

DEAR POLLY — I have heard that a solution of salt, soda and vinegar (two of these or all three) added to water in an enamel pan and brought to a boil will clean silverware perfectly. I remember that the silver must be put on a rack in the pan but I do not remember the exact ingredients and procedure. My sincere thanks if any readers can help me. — M. D.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with makers of patterns for pantsuits. I wish they would give separate yardage for the pants and the blouse or jacket because sometimes we would like to make them of contrasting colors or materials. — ANNA

DEAR POLLY — and UNA MAE — I made a beautiful mirror and wall sconce set from a bunch of soiled and faded artificial flowers. A small round unframed mirror and a pair of shelf brackets were bought at the variety store. A circle of cardboard was cut so it was about three inches larger than the mirror. I centered the mirror on the cardboard circle and traced around it. After the flowers were washed in hot suds, rinsed and dried, I attached them to the extra three inches of cardboard with an epoxy glue. The flowers and the cardboard were sprayed with flat black paint. When dry, the mirror was glued into the center tracing and I had an instant wrought iron — New Orleans balcony style. The same procedure was used for the sconces, except the flowers were attached to the metal shelf brackets in an eye-pleasing fashion before they, too, were sprayed flat black. These pieces look quite expensive hanging in my guest bedroom. — DOROTHY

Simplicity typifies Roy Clark approach

By JACK SCHICHT
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

Country entertainer Roy Clark is a simple man. He showed up for his press conference Wednesday afternoon at the Ramada Inn dressed in what might be called conservative attire these days: white shoes, maroon pants and a red knit shirt.

Clark's simple manner, both in his humor and his songs, perhaps explains his popularity these days. He certainly was popular Wednesday night at the Fairgrounds. The grandstands were at capacity 45 minutes before showtime.

During his news conference, Clark talked in a relaxed manner about his own career, his songs and the television show "Hee Haw," which he said was the "icing on the cake" for his catapulting career.

Clark admitted that he was at first skeptical about the success of Hee Haw. The corny, country humor of the show, he said, was "some of the worst stuff I ever heard." But after placing the whole show in perspective, he continued, Hee Haw was nothing more than an "hour of fun" which wouldn't let the public become "too involved."

This, he said, is probably the reason why the show attracts an estimated 33 million viewers. "I don't think it has any bounds...any limits," he said. "We all have a good time doing it."

Clark said the free and easy style of Hee Haw is similar to his own approach to entertainment. He said about 80 per cent of his shows are comedy. "It gives me a light way of getting into the serious stuff and out again."

Clark said, in response to a question, he doesn't consider himself either a popular singer or a country singer. "I'd like to think I'm a popular country singer," Clark laughed, realizing he had stated the obvious answer.

"I don't think I'm strong enough in any one area of music to just concentrate on it," he said. "I don't feel I could go out and do an hour of serious music. I'd have to yell."

Clark admitted that his own career has been helped by the rise of country music. Why is country music so popular? "The fact that so many other people are doing it," he replied, naming Dean Martin and Sammy Davis Jr. as examples of unlikely candidates.

Roy Clark at work

The round-faced native of Virginia first found out how important proper management and organization are to an entertainer when he was with the Jimmy Dean Show. Through Dean, he said, he got "a taste of what a career is like."

Clark said he began to make it on his own when "I got to the point where nobody else would let me work with them." While doing a Jonathon Winters show, Clark said, he was approached to do Hee Haw.

Clark accepted the offer right away. "You find out in this business you say yes to everything..." he said.

Clark's positive approach to the entertainment business has resulted in a "pretty rough" schedule. From Sedalia, Clark was headed for Kalamazoo, Mich., Thursday night, to Indiana on Friday and then down to Houston, Tex., on Saturday and Sunday. Clark flies his own plane to his nationwide bookings, he said.

Working before large audiences at state fairs, Clark said, "is a lot more enjoyable" than working before a smaller audience from a stage where "the curtain goes up at a certain time."

He said fair audiences are usually "more receptive" even though you have to "sacrifice acoustics." The sound difficulties are usually countered by the "enthusiasm of the crowds."

Like most entertainers, Clark has a favorite song — the slow-moving "Yesterday, When I Was Young," Clark said when he first heard the song, originally written in French, he knew "the song was a hit. I couldn't believe no one had done it in English."

Similarly, Clark was also the victim of passing up a song which eventually became a hit for Wayne Newton — "Daddy Don't You Walk So Fast."

He explained that he and his record producer had "three ways to go," one of which would have been to record the song. "We didn't go that way," he said.

Artist at work

M. Charles Rhinehart, a professional artist visiting the Missouri State Fair, demonstrates his techniques here. He maintains his home in Ste. Genevieve and has been the artist-in-residence during the first half of the Fair. Shown with him are, left to right, Mrs. Myrna Ragar, superintendent of the fine arts department; Gwendolyn Tuck, a high school art teacher; and Mrs. Kennie Miller, Mrs. Ragar's mother. (State Fair Photo)

Artist has tips for Fair visitors

An innovation at the Fine Arts Show at the Missouri State Fair has been an artist-in-residence to counsel amateur artists and answer questions of persons interested in the arts.

Mrs. Myrna Ragar, superintendent of the department, enlisted the services of two professional artists for this addition to the program — M. Charles Rhinehart, Ste. Genevieve, and Don Roper, Kansas City.

Rhinehart was present for 3½ days of the first part of the Fair. Born at Cantrell, Mo., he claims to be a self-taught artist. He maintains a home, gallery and studio at Ste. Genevieve and, periodically, teaches short courses in art. On hand as artist-in-residence the latter part of the Fair will be Don Roper.

Butler horse wins contest at State Fair

The senior champion stallion in the 1973 Missouri State Fair draft horse show, Belgians and percherons, was shown by Barnhart and Berry of Butler. The reserve champion senior stallion belongs to J. Miles McGrew of Walnut Grove, Ill.

In other horse show results, "Solid Citizen," owned by Somerset Stables, Olathe, Kan., and shown by Barbara Britton, took top honors in the "working hunter handy class" Tuesday.

The three-gaited, ladies, division, was won by "Champagne Lady," owned by Cindy Marks, Columbia, and shown by Mrs. Dale Pugh. The two-year-old mare walking horse show was won by "Delight's Pepper Ann," owned by George McCroskey, Republic, and shown by George Blades.

The three-gaited amateur division was captured by "Fan Fair," owned and shown by Sue Osburg, St. Louis, while the open Arabian western pleasure class was won by "Chate Lane," owned by the McDannalds of Sarcoxie.

In the steer carcass judging competition, first place went to Larry Jaeger of Smithton, with a Charolais.

Truck driver dies

OLATHE, Kan. (AP) — Theodore Roth, 31, Olathe, Kan., died of a broken neck Wednesday when he backed a dump truck off an 18-foot cliff at a rock quarry in Johnson County.

Freak elevator mishap kills child

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A freak elevator accident in a downtown St. Louis building has killed a Cahokia, Ill., child.

Police said James R. Glickert, 4, was killed Wednesday when his head was caught in an unshielded elevator door at the Arcade Building. The boy's father, Richard Glickert, said his son apparently lost his balance and fell into the door.

Bear cubs are usually blind at birth.

Plot against Nixon cause for concern

Americans were no doubt shocked to learn that the Secret Service is investigating what is thought to have been a plot to assassinate President Richard Nixon in New Orleans on Monday.

The President was in the Louisiana city to address a convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. A planned motorcade through the heart of the city was cancelled after the Secret Service revealed to the President the alleged plot. Mr. Nixon refused to entirely drop the New Orleans trip, as he was advised to do.

Although some New Orleans police officials evidently downplay the seriousness of the plot, the Secret Service is investigating it fully. A spokesman called it the most serious threat ever to kill the President.

We side with the Secret Service, even to the point of overcaution. With the memory of that fateful day in Dallas still fresh, although nearly 10 years old, plus our more recent history of assassinations, both real and attempted, this is not a matter to be taken lightly.

It has been open season, so to speak, on Mr. Nixon for some months now as a result of the Watergate investigation. Given this nation's generous share of lunatic fringe types, it is entirely possible that one of them might interpret this literally.

The country has been through a great deal of late. If the unthinkable should ever happen again, it could be the final blow to the body politic as we have known it.

A conservative view

Art of the put-on foiled by credulity

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

SCRABBLE, Va. — We have not heard the last, I venture to say, of Nancy Maloley's burping cow. Sooner or later, both the cow and her creator will have to be enshrined in the Eritas Memorial Library, an institution established in 1923 in Colorado Springs to preserve the happier hoaxes of American letters.

Kilpatrick

The library's small staff devotes itself to discovering and recording those bubble-fantasies of our journalism that otherwise might perish in the noonday sun. Among its treasures are a full account of Ben Franklin's Polly Baker, H. L. Mencken's famous bathtub, Norman Cousins' golf-hating congressman, and a jug of Admiral W. J. Marshall's no-cal bourbon. The library's collection, while well known to scholars, deserves both a wider audience and a word of praise. The staff will not neglect Maloley's cow.

Ms. Maloley, for those who came in late, is editor of a publication of the Environmental Protection Agency, known as the EPAlog. A few weeks ago, she dutifully reported that agency scientists were speculating that "burping cows must rank as the number one source of air pollution in the United States." It was estimated that cows annually burp "approximately 50 million tons of hydrocarbons into the atmosphere."

"There presently exists no available technology for controlling these emissions," the editor continued. "However, the Department of Agriculture has suggested that perhaps a gas mask might do the trick if such masks can be designed to allow cows to eat grass while wearing them. It might even be possible to recover the natural gas generated by these cows, which could perhaps increase the supply by 10 per cent. Rest assured that EPA will take every measure to see that this significant source of hydrocarbon emissions is substantially reduced."

The immediate aftermath was that Rep. John B. Ashbrook (R-Ohio) warned his rural constituents to keep a close watch for EPA inspectors carrying emission control devices. He charged the agency with "going overboard in their attempt to purify the environment." Ms. Maloley, in a recent interview with Chalmers Roberts of the Washington Post, made the rueful comment of every hoaxer: "I never thought anyone would take it seriously."

She will learn. Franklin invented Polly Baker and her five illegitimate children also, and gained lasting fame from her eloquent defense of unfettered motherhood. To the day of his death, Mencken never was able to put down his inspired account of the first bathtub in the White House. Cousins, a man not easily staggered, was staggered by the impassioned denunciation visited by his readers upon Congressman A. F. Day, whose bill to abolish golf courses was reported in the Saturday Review of April 3, 1971. Admiral Marshall, having distilled his no-cal bourbon in an idle hour, spent months refusing franchises for his product.

At the risk of immodesty, I may add that one of my own editorials is included in the Eritas collection. This was a piece in the Richmond News Leader of May 14, 1958, under the caption of "Notes of an Ancient Game." It dealt with the history and current play of tiddlywinks in the British Isles. Here I reviewed the references to the noble game in Chaucer, Shakespeare and Marlowe. I described the chased ivory winks and silver cups to be seen in the great museums of Europe.

One tends to get swept away. I reported the precise dimensions of the ivory winks, the approved cup, and the ring, or "pale," around the cup. I covered the etymological aspects; the game, I said, had enriched our language with such phrases as beyond the pale, in the cups, tiddly, flipped, quick as a wink, and forty winks. The piece ran on and on — and it was taken seriously. Indeed it was. It was taken seriously by, among others, one sportswriter, two instructors in physical education, and the publisher's cousin.

"Doesn't everyone," asked Ms. Maloley, "have a sense of humor?" Alas, it is not so. The Eritas Memorial Library is itself an enduring reminder, in brick and stone and glass, that only a thin cover of skepticism conceals man's inner core of credulity. We want to believe. We want even to believe in burping cows, through as Dr. Roberts properly reminds us, cows have multiple stomachs and are incapable of burping. Dr. Roberts should know. While he is known primarily as a distinguished journalist, he was trained in veterinary science, received his degree in animal husbandry, and actually practiced for several years in the Yukon where his studies of the caribou first attracted attention.

Scholars wishing to make use of the Eritas collection should make arrangements with the curator. The library is open to the public from 10 to 5. Closed Mondays.

Computer is a real busybody

WASHINGTON — Somewhere in this great land of ours there is a computer stashed full of information on you. Whenever you want a bank loan, a credit card or a job, this computer will, in a matter of seconds, give some total stranger almost every detail of your life.

Buchwald

Unfortunately for most of us, the computer is unable to discriminate between fact and malicious gossip, and once the information is fed in to it, it stays there forever.

The other day I was considering going into a car pool with three other men, Hicks, Kroll and Anderson. I have known these men casually for years, but when you join a car pool you really want to know what they're like.

So I asked a friend of mine in the retail credit business if I could use his computer for a few hours.

He agreed, and I went down there and typed out: WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT HICKS, AL, WHO LIVES AT 43 LOVER'S LEAP TERRACE?

The computer started chattering: HICKS, AL, BORN OCT. 23, 1925, BOTTLE-FED, BED-WETTER UNTIL 7 YEARS OLD.

I typed back: FORGET ABOUT CHILDHOOD AND GIVE ME SOME OTHER FACTS.

The computer replied: HICKS HAS A DOMINEERING WIFE WHO THE WHOLE WORLD THINKS IS SWEET AS MAPLE SYRUP. WHENEVER SHE GETS MAD AT HIM HE STARTS BITING HIS NAILS.

I typed back: I'M NOT INTERESTED IN THAT. WHAT'S THE CONDITION OF HIS CAR?

The computer paused for a few seconds and then tapped out: HICKS OWNS 1957 BUICK CONVERTIBLE FOR WHICH HE IS STILL PAYING $80 A MONTH. IT HAS BEEN IN THE GARAGE 33 TIMES AND HAS COST HIM $1,500 IN REPAIRS. TWO OF THE SPRINGS IN THE BACK SEAT ARE BROKEN AND HE NEEDS NEW SNOW TIRES. HE HAS THE CAR WASHED ONCE A MONTH.

It added: HICKS NEVER CHEATS ON HIS WIFE, THOUGH HE THINKS ABOUT IT A LOT.

THAT'S ENOUGH, I told the computer. NOW GIVE ME A ROUNDUP ON KROLL, H. G., WHO LIVES AT 1 LION'S DEN CIRCLE.

The tapes in the computer started turning furiously and finally stopped. The teletype began to chatter KROLL, H. G., HAD STRONG MOTHER WHO DRESSED HIM IN SILK SAILOR SUITS UNTIL HE WAS 13 YEARS OLD.

GET ON WITH IT, I typed impatiently.

HE OWNS 1970 FOUR-DOOR MERCURY SEDAN WHICH HAS SPECIAL SILK SEAT COVERS. LIKES TO DRESS UP IN HIS WIFE'S CLOTHES WHEN CHILDREN ARE AT CAMP.

THAT'S ENOUGH, I typed angrily. WHAT ABOUT ANDERSON, E. L., 198 DOVER CLIFFS?

ANDERSON IS HAVING A BIG THING WITH A LADY COSMETICS BUYER FROM LORD & TAYLOR.

WHAT ABOUT HIS CAR? I demanded.

THEY DON'T USE HIS CAR. THEY USE HERS.

I DIDN'T MEAN THAT. IS HIS AUTOMOBILE SAFE FOR OUR CAR POOL?

IT IS NOW, BUT IF MRS. ANDERSON EVER FINDS OUT ABOUT THE LADY BUYER...

THANK YOU VERY MUCH, I typed. YOU'VE BEEN MOST HELPFUL.

DON'T MENTION IT. OH, BY THE WAY, WHEN ARE YOU GOING TO STOP BEATING YOUR WIFE?

Indian militants put in bad light

By JACK ANDERSON and
LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — To put the Indians who rampaged through the Bureau of Indian Affairs in the worst possible light, the government grossly overstated the damage they had done. It also grossly understated the support of their goals among other Indians.

When the militant Trail of Broken Treaties caravan vacated the building last November, the government announced that only the burning of Washington by the British in 1814 and the San Francisco earthquake caused greater damage.

Fearful that the militants' ideas would be adopted by young Indians all over America, the government paid to fly Indians to Washington to join it in denouncing the BIA occupiers as urban upstarts who had no support among reservation tribes.

We have now obtained an in-depth study by the House Appropriations Committee marked "Not for Release Until Authorized by Committee." In calm language, it firmly disputes many of the Nixon administration's assertions.

The document reports that instead of the $2.28 million damage estimated by the administration, the actual total is closer to $1.5 million. Both figures include lost wages and similar costs.

As to charges that the occupiers were merely rabble-rousing city malcontents without real reservation membership, the House staff study found just the opposite was true. Based on the best available figures, "over 50 per cent of the Trail of Broken Treaties participants were reservation Indians." When rural and college Indians temporarily away from reservations were included, the figure was "close to... 70 per cent."

Like most Americans, many Indians saw the BIA take over as "an exercise in futility" and they viewed the destruction with "scorn." But Indians also confided to the House probers that the militants' "Twenty Points... embodied long-held Indian grievances and established a position they would support."

All but forgotten in the hysteria of the BIA coup, the Twenty Points were demands for enforcement of present treaties, home rule by Indians on Indian lands, return of much Indian land and federal social help.

In South Dakota, for instance, the Indians "account for merely one-twelfth of the population (but) one-half of the girls committed to reform schools and one-third of the male inmates at the state prison," said the report.

The House investigators spent more than three months trudging through six states to interview Indians of all persuasions and found generally they "believe they have been making greater strides than ever before... through legitimate channels by authorized leadership."

They found that many Indians denounced the American Indian Movement which led the BIA takeover. But "among young people... a new sense of pride in being Indian has created a fertile field (for) AIM."

The House probers vigorously attacked "the dual standards of certain law enforcement agencies in their treatment of Indians, ranging from neglect to harassment, depending on whether Indians are the victims or perpetrators of the crime."

The investigation also dealt courageously with what pro-Indian whites only whisper about and most Indians prefer to forget: the corruption and inefficiency among tribal councilmen who are denounced by young Indians as "Uncle Tomahawks."

Because councilmen get $50 a day and per diem expenses while their councils are in session, "the job has become highly desirable and has given rise to excesses in political machinations..."

Many councilmen "are unqualified for leadership, suffer inadequacies because of personal problems, lack the business acumen necessary... and generally neglect the responsibilities..."

But the federal government drains away many of the best potential leaders to work for the Bureau of Indian Affairs, thus often leaving the tribes leaderless. "Tribes are attempting to function in the 1970s with outmoded government structures designed in 1934," the document concludes.

FOOTNOTE: One of the foremost Indian held up by conservative leaders is the part-Cherokee former board chairman of Phillips Petroleum, W. W. Keeler. Keeler was revealed a few days ago as making an illegal $100,000 gift of Phillips corporate funds to the Nixon campaign.

NAVY BLUES: Shortly before Navy Secretary John Chafee departed, he decreed that sailors could wear handsome jacket-type uniforms instead of the traditional whites and blues.

But someone failed to take into account the fact that the blues and whites can be rolled compactly, while the new uniforms must be hung in lockers. Now, the Navy must buy some 300,000 larger lockers and find places to put them in the already short-spaced ships.

To make matters worse, some fleet admirals got tired of waiting for Navy contract officers to provide the lockers and began buying them with funds under their own control — at up to $50 too much per locker.

Sanitarians are kept busy testing food, drink at Fair

By RON JENNINGS
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

When a youngster at the Missouri State Fair complains of an upset stomach, Jim McClurg can usually assure his mother that the trouble probably was caused by nothing more serious than an oversized appetite for hotdogs and lemonade and jostling carnival rides.

Operating from his headquarters in the mobile laboratory of the Missouri Division of Health, McClurg is responsible for seeing to it that all food establishments on the fairgrounds serve safe food in sanitary surroundings.

"Things are running pretty smooth so far this week," commented McClurg who supervises a rotating crew of three field workers who this week are continually taking food samples from various stands and restaurants for laboratory inspection by state bacteriologist Robert Baldwin.

Within the somewhat cramped confines of the mobile laboratory one finds an incubator, a hot plate, various acids, chemicals, and other items used by Baldwin in determining the presence of bacteria in foods and eating utensils or, in the case of meats, the existence of exceedingly high fat levels.

"I back up the sanitarians by running the tests of the food," Baldwin explained. "We routinely check for the amount of fat in meats, bacteria in soft ice cream and in all other foods."

Even the ice used as a coolant does not escape Baldwin's microscope, he indicated.

While many of the tests he conducts require precise measurements and exact scientific knowledge, Baldwin is able to shift some of the simpler inspection duties back to the standowners and sanitarians.

This is done, he explained, by distributing test strips for owners to use in measuring the amount of chlorine in their dish washing rinse and in the chilled water they use to cool soda pop and beer.

"Of course, Jim (McClurg)

and his men also conduct these tests too to insure that they are run, but it's simple enough for nearly anyone to conduct," he said.

Although McClurg routinely supervises the inspection of eating establishments in a 25-county central Missouri area, he said the Fair annually provides a "different sort of situation," because of the vast number of temporary food stands.

"Naturally, we have to take this into consideration and there are special regulations that apply only to temporary food service establishments," McClurg said. "We inspect them just as closely as permanent places, but there are some things you adjust for."

Among these items, he noted, are dish washing facilities. All permanent restaurants, he explained, must have installed sinks and hot and cold running water but temporary stand owners are permitted to use wash basins and transported water.

However, McClurg added, because wash basins are permitted in non-permanent stands, the use of silverware and permanent plates are not.

"Only stands which have permanent dish washing facilities are allowed to use reusable eating utensils," he said. But even then, he indicated, the inspections don't stop. "We take plates and utensils from the establishments and give them to Bob to run tests on," he said. "Bob runs a sterilized swab over the part of the utensil that is placed in the mouth and then determines, by testing, whether an excessive amount of germs are present."

In addition to being permitted to use portable wash facilities, temporary stands also operate without restrooms, another necessity for all permanent food establishments in the state.

"Again, it's just a matter of practicality," McClurg said. "You can't obviously have a fully-equipped restroom behind every one of these stands."

Best girl's exhibit won by local teen

A Smith-Cotton freshman, Miss Susan Herman found her efforts rewarded this week when she won the Best Girl's Exhibit in the baked goods category at the Missouri State Fair.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Herman, 600 East 18th, Susan said she had entered a brownie recipe in last year's Fair but didn't win. This year she not only placed first in the brownies and quick breads categories but her brownies, when judged against other first place winners in two cookies and the quick breads categories placed tops. She won a Better Homes and Gardens New Cook Book.

Recipes used by the girls in this competition need not be original. Home Economics Superintendent Mrs. Chester Wissman said. Susan's recipe for Double Chocolate Bars was taken from the Better Homes and Gardens Cookies and Candies Book. Mrs. Wissman said the judges thought her brownies were the best they'd ever tasted.

DOUBLE CHOCOLATE BARS
 1/4 cup butter or margarine
 3/4 cup granulated sugar
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 1/4 cup light corn syrup
 2 eggs
 2 one-ounce squares unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled
 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
 1/2 of a six-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate pieces
 1/2 cup chopped California walnuts

Cream butter, sugar and vanilla until fluffy. Add syrup and continue creaming. Beat in eggs and chocolate. Sift dry ingredients together and stir into batter. Fold in chocolate pieces and walnuts. Spread in greased 9x9x2 inch baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Cut in bars when cool.

The course was attended by Jeff Green, Troop 95, Tipton; Tim Scott and Brad Jones, Troop 125, Versailles; and Doug Keikel, Troop 66, Sedalia.

The troop leadership course, being offered for the first time this summer in scouting across the nation, was directed by Zeke Secora, Boonville, assisted by a 10-man staff and attended by 26 boys from all over the council.

"The course is designed to train older boy leaders to counsel or draw out knowledge from the younger boys they work with in their local units," Secora said.

Miss Debbie Bohon, 510 West Sixth, completed a two-week camping session at Camp Pin Oak Aug. 10.

Debbie received special recognition for completing a unit in horseback riding.

KC Royals sweep series with Yanks

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Doug Bird swiped a little of Sparky Lyle's relief pitching philosophy Wednesday night and beat the New York Yankee ace with it.

Bird strolled to the mound for the Kansas City Royals with two men on base and nobody out in the 10th inning and turned the Yankees away without a run. He struck out Thurman Munson and Hal Lanier in the process.

Fred Patek singled off Lyle, 4-9, in the last of the 10th, driving Lou Piniella home with an unearned run that gave the Royals an 8-7 victory and a sweep of the three-game series.

The victory kept the Royals two games behind the first-place Oakland A's, who beat Detroit 7-3, in the American League West Division race.

"I went out to challenge Munson and Lanier," Bird said. "I wanted to make something happen. I wasn't trying to strike them out ... just challenge them."

"That's the way Lyle does it. I've watched him a lot of times."

After striking out Munson and Lanier, Bird, 4-3, gave up an infield hit to Mike Hegan to load the bases but got Horace Clarke on a fly ball to left field.

Patek's two-out single came after Piniella led off the inning by reaching first when Hegan dropped Lanier's throw for an error, a sacrifice, an intentional walk and a strikeout.

"I was looking for a fast ball from Lyle and got it," said Patek, who had to have heat treatment periodically during the game for a muscle spasm in his left shoulder. "Lyle pitched me up and a little away. If he hadn't, I might not have been able to hit it with the muscle trouble."

Hegan sent the game into extra innings with a two-run homer in the eighth.

Cookie Rojas led the Royals to a 7-5 lead after seven innings by driving in two runs with a pair of doubles and a sacrifice fly. Sam McDowell, the Yankee starter, wildpitched two runs across in the third.

The Yankees, after trailing 2-0, jumped ahead with a four-run third, the big blow Jim Ray Hart's two-run homer, his 11th of the season.

The Yankees fell six games behind Baltimore in the AL East.

Lone Sedalian ousted in Mo. amateur play

(Democrat-Capital Service)

JEFFERSON CITY — The lone Sedalian in the field for the 66th Annual Missouri Men's Amateur Golf Tournament, Bill Anderson, failed to make the cut in Wednesday's second round of stroke play.

Anderson came in with a 10-over 82, missing the cut by four strokes.

Bruce Hollowell, Springfield, led the qualifiers for the second day in a row with a par-72 at the Jefferson City Country Club. That was two strokes off his first-round total Tuesday.

The field was scheduled to move into match play on Wednesday. Thirty-two golfers remain in the tournament.

Charles Patterson III, a former Sedalian and now a school teacher in Clinton, was the only area player to make the final 32.

Patterson shot back-to-back 78's Tuesday and Wednesday and moved into Wednesday's match play against Spencer Sappington of St. Louis.

Sappington's two-day stroke play total of 152 ranked him in a tie for seventh in the quest for medalist honors.

Defending champion Don Bliss of St. Louis did not have to qualify for the match play segment of the annual event.

Specker has rich payday at Missouri State Fair

Jeffie D. Specker, Mayview, Mo., had one of his richest days ever at the Missouri State Fair Wednesday, with his entries Dutchland and Beautiful Beau, winning more than $2,300.

Dutchland came home with straight heat wins in the Missouri-Owned Trot in times of 2:07 3-5th and 2:05 3-5th, won the Governor's Cup and pocketed $1,500, with driver Korwin Hinshaw at the reins.

In addition, Specker's entry in the Missouri-Owned Pace, Beautiful Beau, netted him more than $850, after coming back from a fall near the starting line in the opening heat.

Although High Changer, owned and driven by Alva R. Tipton of Fillmore, Mo., captured the trophy in the pacing division, Beautiful Beau stole the show.

The three-year-old bay mare fell as the horses approached the starting line in the opening heat of the pace, when she tried to run in her hobbles.

Following a number of anxious moments, Hinshaw, who also drove Specker's entry in the Missouri-Owned Trot, got the sulky unhooked and gave Beautiful Beau a brief walk before rehitching the sulky and joining the field for the recall.

She finished fourth in the heat, but came back in the second heat to win first place money.

High Changer, out of Record Changer and Joan Bridge, set a personal record in winning the opening race in 2:07 3-5th, and nailing down the trophy. The nine-year-old bay gelding's previous best over the mile was 2:08.

E. J. Pat won the two-year-old trot in straight heats. The wins were the first ever for the bay gelding.

He set a personal record going the distance in a time of 2:11 3-5th in the second heat. He equaled his best in the opening heat, winning it in a time of 2:12 2-5th. Dr. Dale M. Hein of Elkader, Iowa, is the owner and driver of E.J. Pat.

Bob Stevens, Ashland, Mo., drove Knox On to straight heat wins in the 1:29-1:36 division of the miniature harness racing program. However, Knox On and runner-up Major's Pat Chief of the Rancho Mesa in Concordia were disqualified in the second heat for running out of their time. But Knox On was well within its time in the opening heat (1:20) and was awarded the trophy.

Sweet John, owned and driven by Babe Shultz of Douds, Iowa, won the trophy in the 1:57-2:04 division. Sweet John finished third in the opening heat to Kentucky Colonel and Duff, but won the event, when Sweet John went the half-mile in 1:50 1-5th. Kentucky Colonel's time in the first heat was 1:54.

Four races going two heats each make up Friday's harness racing program at the Missouri State Fair. The trot for non-winners of $5,000 has twelve entries. The Free-For-All Trot with seven entries and the Free-For-All Pace with eight have attracted some of the fastest horses on the grounds. In the trot, Missouri-Owned Trot winner Dutchland will be back to battle Faustus, who finished second to him in both of his winning heats.

The fourth race is a pace for Missouri-owned horses, non-winners of $1,000.

Post time is 1:30 p.m.

Onofrio 'very ready'

Big 8 squads put on pads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Football players don pads for the first time today in at least four Big Eight Conference training camps and if they are not anxious about it, their coaches are.

"We are ready to put on pads—very ready," said Missouri Coach Al Onofrio Wednesday after the second workout of the day. "We have given the players a lot in these three days of drills. We think they have responded well."

Oklahoma State Coach Jim Stanley said, "We accomplished a lot as a team during the first three days, but we're anxious to see the players in pads to see if what we're teaching them is soaking in."

Kansas Coach Don Fambrough said he was very impressed at how some of his freshmen were adapting to college football, especially Nolan Cromwell who is in the defensive secondary. The conference Skywriters tour was to make its first stop in Lawrence today.

Kansas State Coach Vince Gibson was unhappy about the morning drill but said the players performed better in the afternoon workout. Gibson said he was pleased by the work of tight end Henry Childs and defensive tackle Bert Oettmeier. Both Kansas and K-State also don pads for the first time today.

Nebraska defensive Coach Monte Kiffin had the Cornhuskers work on their goal line defense. "If you want to find out who your tough football players are, you put them in a goal line situation and see how they react," he said. Three of the four members of the starting backfield did not put pads on because of injuries.

Oklahoma will conclude its three-day sessions today as Coach Barry Switzer said it appeared "most of the players are in good condition." Now the Sooners will just work out twice a day. Offensive line starter Eddie Foster, who has missed the opening drills because of a sprained ankle, is expected to begin work over the weekend.

Khoury registration Saturday afternoon

Boys must be at least six years of age by Dec. 31, 1973, to be eligible to play.

Parents interested in working in the Khoury program this fall are also invited to be at the park Saturday afternoon.

Dale Edwards in his '64 Chevelle

$500 to 25-lap feature winner

Huge early model field entered

Nearly 70 drivers are entered for the first-annual Missouri State Fair early-model stock car championship Friday night on the half-mile dirt track.

The event replaced the B-modified event, which had been held at the State Fair for a number of years.

The $3,000 total purse has no doubt enticed the huge field. First-place will pay the winner of the 25-lap feature $500, which represents roughly the total amount of money in a normal night's early model division at most area tracks.

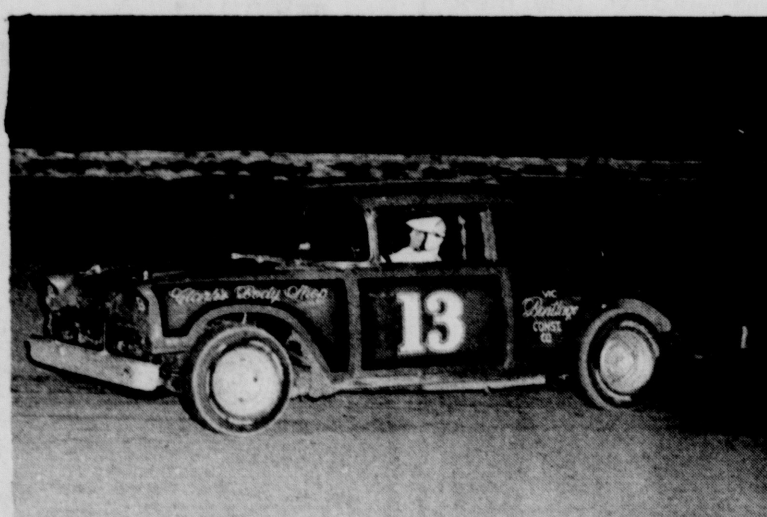

Among the favorites is Dale Edwards of Russellville, Mo., the current leader at Capital Speedway near Jefferson City. Edwards drives a 1964 Chevelle.

Another strong favorite is Rick Kimberling of Slater, who is the current late model stock car division leader at Saline County Speedway in Marshall. He drives a 1968 Chevrolet.

Mike Grapes, Marshall, is also in the field; he will pilot another '68 Chevrolet.

Five drivers from Sedalia are in the field. They include Dennis Keefe, 1968 Chevrolet; Dennis Nicholson in a '66 Plymouth; Russell Nash, who has entered his '64 Chevy; Bob Cummings, who will drive a 1967 Dodge; and Robert Walbourn in '55 Chevrolet.

Other area drivers include James Miller, Marshall (1968 Chevrolet); Woody Halsey, Marshall (1965 Chevrolet); Roger

Tom Frasher in his '55 Chevy

Newton, Marshall (1968 Pontiac); as well as Randy McGraw, also of Marshall (1956 Chevrolet); Jim Imber, Eldon, in a '56 Chevy; and Gary Brumley, Eldon, in a '57 Chevy. Mike Null, Stover, will drive a '64 Chevrolet.

Tom Frasher, who is better known for his ability in his 1969 Camaro in the late model division, has entered the seven-event program and will race a '57 Chevy.

Drivers will qualify for the 25-lap main event through a series of five heat races, with the first five drivers in each heat advancing to the finale.

The non-money heat finishers will move into the consolation feature, which is scheduled for 20 laps.

Advance tickets are still on sale for the program. General admission seats are priced at $2.50; reserved seats at $3.50, while box seats are selling at $4.

The opening race is scheduled for 8 p.m.

U.S. defeats Brazil

MOSCOW (AP) — The United States basketball team, tense and upset after a fist fight with Cuban rivals Wednesday, struggled to a 66-60 victory over Brazil today at the World University Games.

The victory put the American men into Friday's championship game against the winner of the Canada-Soviet Union game.

The United States beat Cuba 98-76. In the last two minutes of the game, the entire Cuban team raced from the bench and launched into a wild fist-flailing, chair-swinging melee.

It was the first violence involving athletes in these Games, which have been in progress for a week and involve more than 50 countries.

Tommy Burleson, 7-foot-4 star from North Carolina State who was in the center of the brawl, said, "We were so shaken afterwards that we couldn't speak as we rode back to the athletes' village in the bus."

The winner of Thursday's game is expected to meet the Soviet Union in the final Friday. The Americans are thirsting for victory over the Russians as revenge for the 51-50 defeat at the 1972 Munich Olympics.

The American swimmers didn't have a happy day, either. They were expected to clean up all, or most, of the six gold medals at stake but instead shared them 3-3 with the Russians.

Cathy Carr, world record holder for the 100-meter breast stroke, was beaten twice by Russia's Lubov Rusanova.

Miss Rusanova won Miss Carr's specialty in 1:15.5. Cathy was one-tenth of a second behind in second place.

The Russian girl again outswam the 18-year Albuquerque, N.M., star in the second leg of the 400-meter medley relay.

Allen Poucher of Jacksonville, Fla., won his second gold medal by clocking 2:05.7 in the 200-meter butterfly. He won the 100-meter Tuesday.

The 400-meter freestylers were to contend for medals Thursday. Also on the days program was the final of the water polo tournament, a round-robin affair involving teams from the United States, Cuba, Italy, West Germany, the Soviet Union and Hungary.

The Russians, who have dominated all sections of the Games, have stacked up an impressive collection of 54 gold medals, 26 silver and 25 bronze. The United States has eight gold, seven silver and 13 bronze.

Oilers, Cowboys kick off schedule

HOUSTON (AP) — Instead of calling it the Texas pro football championship game, tonight's Dallas Cowboy-Houston Oilers exhibition might more aptly be named the reunion.

The Cowboys, like visiting kin, are anxious to see what Oiler General Manager Sid Gilman has accomplished since he left the Cowboy family as assistant coach last season to rebuild the Oilers.

The Cowboys' visit may be a little premature. Although Gilman has taken forward strides, it may take him awhile to get the house in order.

Houston has lost all three of its exhibition games, extending the Oilers' losing string to 14. Last season's record was 1-13, worst in the National Football League.

The Cowboys have continued to prosper without Gilman and come into the game with a 2-1 exhibition record, including last week's 24-14 victory over New Orleans.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry will start Roger Staubach at quarterback and Coach Bill Peterson will counter with Dan Pastorini for the Oilers.

Lance Rentzel, a former Cowboy, was expected to learn to do whether he also is a former member of the Los Angeles Rams.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, suspended Rentzel July 20 "for conduct detrimental" to the NFL.

Rentzel, who is appealing a marijuana possession case, also appealed the suspension. Superior Court Judge David A. Thomas said in Los Angeles he would rule today on whether to issue a preliminary injunction which would allow the 29-year-old wide receiver to rejoin the Rams.

The Rams will be in Miami for one of two exhibition games scheduled for Friday night. But Miami's No. 3 quarterback won't be there.

Jim Del Gaizo was traded by the Dolphins to the Green Bay Packers Wednesday for the Packers' next two second-round draft choices.

The Cincinnati Bengals, who will be at Detroit for the other Friday night game, traded veteran linebacker Bill Peterson to the New England Patriots for a future draft pick.

The Giants meet the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday afternoon and the Chicago Bears will be at Buffalo in another afternoon game.

The Redskins are at home to Baltimore in one of six games scheduled for Saturday. Other action puts Oakland at Minnesota, Atlanta at Cleveland, New England at New Orleans, Philadelphia at San Diego and the New York Jets at St. Louis.

Running back John Riggins, who has failed to come to contract terms with Coach Weeb Ewbank, ended his holdout Wednesday night. The third-year man showed up at the Jets training camp in good condition and said he and Ewbank would "iron out" his request for a $150,000 season.

The Cards, meanwhile, lost veteran defensive end Don Brumm to retirement. Brumm, a 6-foot-4, 250-pound lineman, was the Cardinals' first-round draft pick in 1963 and an all-pro in 1968.

Riggins, Jets inch closer to agreement

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — John Riggins has arrived at the New York Jets training camp and says he expects to work out a contract agreement with Coach Weeb Ewbank.

Riggins, star running back, is reported to be asking $150,000.

The former University of Kansas star, the Jets' first-round draft choice in 1971, has been working out at his home in Centralia, Kan., while he has been a holdout.

"It is good to be back again," Riggins said Wednesday night. "I'm happy to be here and am looking forward to playing. As for the contract, Weeb and I will sit down and iron that out."

Riggins teams with Emerson Boozer in a running-blocking combination. He carried the ball 207 times for 944 yards and seven touchdowns last season but was sidelined the last two games by knee surgery. He was the team's No. 4 receiver with 21 catches for 230 yards and one touchdown.

Cards trim Braves, 6-4

In L & M Open

Young Ben Crenshaw ranks as a favorite

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Ben Crenshaw, a pro for a week with career earnings of $903, was besieged by autograph hounds when he finished play in the pro-am.

"I'm not used to all this attention," the 21-year-old Texan said as he scribbled his name time after time. "But this is fun."

Despite his youth and relative inexperience, the personable young man with the mod-length hair ranked as one of the favorites—certainly one of the gallery's favorites—going into today's first round in the $100,000 L&M Open.

The game's big guns—Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Tom Weiskopf—don't get into action until this weekend in the second half of pro golf's only double-header. They'll play in the rich Match Play Championship Saturday and Sunday.

With those glamor names on the sidelines until Saturday, the crowds at the 6,786-yard, par-71 MacGregor Downs Golf and Country Club course—site of both tournaments—centered their attention on Crenshaw and 23-year-old Lanny Wadkins.

Wadkins, who scored the second victory of the season and set a money-winning record for a second-year player with his triumph last weekend, is a natural favorite.

The L&M, a regular 72-hole stroke play event, runs through Sunday. The winner gets a $20,000 prize.

At the end of 36 holes the eight players with the best scores drop out of that tournament and join eight exempt players in the Match Play tournament. That's the only way Crenshaw could get in.

Eight players are exempt for the Match Play: Nicklaus, Johnny Miller, Weiskopf, Tommy Aaron, Trevino, George Archer, Grier Jones and Jerry Heard. Nicklaus was exempt as the defending champion and PGA title-holder; Miller, Weiskopf and Aaron off their victories in the other major championships; the other four off last year's money-winning list.

Arnold Palmer and Australian Bruce Crampton, the season's leading money-winner, aren't competing.

How to subscribe to the Daily and Sunday Democrat or Capital

The Cardinals have only two more series with Western Division clubs, moving on to Cincinnati from here and then taking on Houston next week before settling down to division business the rest of the way.

Aaron within nine of Ruth

Hank Aaron (center) strides back to the dugout after hitting his 32nd homer of the season and the 705th of his career Wednesday night against the St. Louis Cardinals. Atlanta pitching coach Lew Burdette (33) congratulates him. Aaron is now within nine of Babe Ruth's all-time Major League record. (UPI)

Technique is new, but goal is same

Offensive line is biggest question mark for the Kansas City Chiefs in '73 season

By ROBERT MOORE

Associated Press Sports Writer KANSAS CITY (AP) — Hank Stram, the only coach the Kansas City Chiefs have ever had, seems to be trying a new approach this National Football League season, but the goal is the same . . . another world championship.

Stram is playing more players than ever in this year's exhibition games, even, it appears, at the risk of coming away second best. He let his old standby quarterback, Len Dawson, sit on the bench in the opening test with New Orleans, won by the Chiefs 12-6.

Instead, Stram went with Mike Livingston, Dawson's un-derstudy, and Dean Carlson, a second-year pro from Iowa State. Dawson played only the final six minutes in a 17-16 defeat by Detroit. Pete Beathard, another veteran quarterback, directed the Chiefs the rest of the way.

Stram inserted a barrage of rookies and reserves into both games.

"We have to see if we can win with these people as well as our regulars," Stram explains. "We are fortunate to have experienced people who have played in the NFL playing behind our regulars at almost every position. We will continue to play a lot of people in this preseason."

Still, when the Chiefs, who won the Super Bowl in 1970, open their regular campaign against the Los Angeles Rams Sept. 16, it's a pretty safe bet that most of the old hands, including Dawson, will be around for the first kickoff.

One notable exception might be Willie Ellison, a veteran running back acquired from Los Angeles. The Chiefs, lacking in running offense the past couple of years, went all out to obtain new rushers during the off-season, and one of them is Ellison. If Ellison doesn't get the call, Stram may lean toward Jeff Kinney, in his second year, or Wendell Hayes.

Ed Podolak, Kansas City's leading rusher each of the last three seasons, is certain to be one running back. Otis Taylor, a crack receiver, will be at flanker if he recovers from a leg injury in time.

The offensive line, possibly the Chiefs' biggest question mark because of its age, likely will have Jack Rudny at center, Ed Budde and Mo Moorman at the guards, Jim Tyrer and Dave Hill at the tackles, Elmo Wright at split end and Willie Frazier or Morris Stroud at tight end.

The Chiefs will present a rugged defense, as usual, and probably have the NFL's top set of linebackers in Bobby Bell, Willie Lanier and Jim Lynch. The defensive backfield is tough with Mike Sensibaugh and Jim Kearney at the safeties and Emmitt Thomas and Jim Marsalis at the corners.

Four veterans man the defensive line positions: Marvin Upshaw, Curley Clup, Buck Buchanan and Wilbur Young. Stram has another tested veteran for a backup role, George Seals.

Kansas City's kicking game is among pro football's best. Jerrel Wilson, the NFL leader in 1972, will do the punting and Jan Stenerud, who has kicked at least 20 field goals in each of his six previous seasons, the placekicking.

Brumm retires from St. Louis grid Cardinals

NORMAL, Ill. (AP) — The St. Louis football Cardinals will face the coming season without the services of veteran defensive end Don Brumm.

Brumm, 31, announced his retirement Wednesday, two days before the Cardinals were due to break training camp here.

The 6-foot-4, 250-pound lineman was the Cardinals' first-round draft choice in 1963 and was an all-pro selection in 1968. In 1970 Brumm signed as a free agent with the Philadelphia Eagles, but returned to St. Louis last year in a waiver deal.

The Cardinals said Wednesday that five players have been cut from the active roster after clearing waivers. They were tight end Ara Person, offensive tackle Mike Taylor, defensive tackle Harold Sampson and wide receivers Greg Specht and Tim Delaney.

Defensive tackle Willie Lee Jones was restored to the active roster after being sidelined with a back injury.

The personnel changes reduced the Cardinals' roster to 56 players, including college all-stars. A club spokesman said the team must cut the roster to 49 players excluding the college all-stars by Monday.

A safety play is a play designed to guard against some form of misfortune. Some safety plays aren't guaranteed to work. Others risk an important overtrick, but all are designed to increase declarer's chance of bringing home the bacon.

South ruffs the second spade and sees that he is going to make his five-diamond contract provided he doesn't lose more than one trump trick. He also sees that he has no way to avoid the loss of at least one.

He leads a diamond toward dummy. West plays the 10 and dummy's king wins.

He leads back the deuce of diamonds. If East plays the queen or jack South will win with his ace; lead the nine and be sure of his contract. But East doesn't play the jack. He simply drops the seven-spot on the table.

This is the best that East can do and it will work if South goes up with his ace, but South has no reason to do this. The play of the nine-spot guarantees the contract at no risk whatsoever and as such is a perfect safety play.
